SHANE LYNCH

Shane, along with Ronan Keating, Mikey Graham, Keith Duffy and Stephen Gately, formed BOYZONE in 1993. They were all active in the Dublin arts scene when they got together and decided to form an all-guy vocal group.

Their first single was a cover of the Spinners' 'Working My Way Back To You', which started the rise to superstar status in the UK as well as Europe, Asia and Latin America.

Their first album 'Said And Done' was released in 1994 and shot to number one in the UK. Their second album 'A Different Beat', also topped the charts and sold over two million copies worldwide.

Boyzone scored a musical hat trick with their next album 'Where We Belong'. Released in Europe in 1998, it became their third consecutive album to hit number one.

Their last album 'By Request' was a compilation of their greatest hits, and was also a massive success.

Since then Shane has been concentrating on his greatest love – racing in the British GT Championships, driving the world famous TVR Tuscan T400R.

Shane was a contestant on The Games 2004 (Channel 4 and E4) in April 2004 where he came first, and then also became a regular on Dream Team for Sky 1 where he played the part of millionaire entrepreneur Eli Knox.

Shane returned to The Games in March 2006 to compete in The Champions of Champions and was also one of the participants in Love Island for ITV in July 2006.

Shane has recently appeared on numerous TV shows such as Don't Call Me Stupid (ITV1), The Truth About Boybands (ITV1), Celebrity Weakest Link (BBC), Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Takeaway (ITV1), Dales Supermarket Sweep (ITV1), Loose Women (ITV1), Richard & Judy (C4) and 5th Gear (C5).

Shane & Sheena: A Boyz Own Wedding (a two part TV show documenting the lead up to and also the wedding itself of Shane & his then fiancé Sheena), was commissioned by RTE. It proved to be a great success receiving a 20% share of the Irish TV audience for the first episode transmitted on 18th Sept 07.

You will also see Shane on series 2 of Cirque de Celebrite, a priority show for Sky 1 which goes live from 7th October.
